How many of us have sat teary-eyed in front of our TV screens, watching well-deserving families-in-need lay eyes on their new homes for the first time after a community chants "Move that bus!"?

Guilty as charged.

It's no secret what the power of a family's home possesses. The team at Landmark Real Estate and Development know this well and they are willing to go above and beyond to meet their customers' expectations.

"Our philosophy from day one has been to build the finest home, in the right location and to exceed our customers' expectations throughout the entire home building process. Thirty years later, the same vision and mission guide the company."

Without innovation, it's a piece of wood. Without a plan, it's just cement. Without heart, it's simply brick. But when put in the hands of gifted visionaries, these materials become a home, a place of retreat that's worthy of rejoicing.

The unique building process led by the Landmark team is more than a construction job. For Willis, it's an opportunity for all parties to appreciate the involved creative process that goes into a home's construction.

"It's a chance for you to see the quality materials and disciplined approach to construction that goes into the creation of your new home. It's also a chance for you to enjoy the rare and exciting experience of watching what was once just a dream, take shape," says Willis. "But the process doesn't stop with construction. It goes well beyond the time that you move into your new home to make sure that living in your home is more enjoyable than you'd imagined."

Landmark Real Estate and Development has held this ambitious mentality through the volatile economy. And, as a result we have built and sold over 161 homes from 2009-2011. Our team is currently undertaking 2 fall showcases, 11 custom homes, 9 spec homes, a 374-unit apartment construction and 16 condos in Door County.

"We're committed to your comfort every step of the way. It's our philosophy. It's the way we do business. We are a small team, but we work like a well-oiled machine. It's a ton of hard work but it's a labor of love and well worth it," says Garot. "A great home is not defined by square footage, but by whether it fulfills the expectations and needs for each unique family."
